Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 01 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy to start, but brighter spells developing later.

Today:
Some light rain or drizzle in easternmost areas through the morning, but otherwise another dry and generally cloudy day. The brightest spells in the far west initially, with these becoming more widespread into the afternoon. Breezy along Channel coasts. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud builds over eastern areas going overnight, bringing some patchy drizzle in places here, with western areas continuing to see clear spells. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Thursday:
Morning cloud and patchy drizzle across eastern areas soon clears, with widespread sunny spells, and longer periods of sunshine, following across the region. Remaining breezy along Channel coasts. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Cloudy starts Friday and Saturday, with sunny spells then developing; accompanied by isolated showers and breezy winds Saturday. Turning unsettled from early Sunday, with rain and possibly thundery showers arriving.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.